This Superior Tubing is furnished with heavy sockets, and is cut with a vanishing screw thread, corresponding exactly with the thread in the socket, so that when screwed up it has a bearing the whole length of the joint; and the absence of a deep thread on the tube at the end of the socket obviates the liability to break at that point from the vibration caused by the action of the pump.
Each length and socket is stamped with our trade mark, and is carefully tested before shipment with a hydraulic pressure of 1,300 pounds to the square inch.

Titusville Morning Herald.

Heartless Robbery.

From the New York Times.

It is astonishing what unlooked for misfortunes happen in this world. We need not remind our readers that we have published a series of warrants which prove that immense sums were paid out by our respected rulers to Ingersoll, Garvey, Keyser, and two or three other firms for furniture supplied and work done to the new court-house and other county buildings. A committee of citizens was appointed to inquire into these and other expenditures, and, very naturally, the members wanted to see the vouchers and other specifications of details of the transactions in question. These vouchers were to have been handed over to the committee this morning. All was then to have been cleared up. Controller Connolly and the Mayor were to have proved their innocence. The cruel charges which have been brought against them were to have been refuted. It was to have been shown that Ingersoll really did supply furniture worth $5,063,648 83; that Andrew J. Garvey fairly earned $2,870,464 06 by plastering; that Keyser did plumbing work to the value of $1,231,817 76; that carpets were supplied by the respectable, but unknown, Mr J. A. Smith to the tune of $565,731 34. The controller had the proof of all this in his possession, and today they were to have been triumphantly submitted. On Saturday night Mr. Connolly and Mr. Hall slept the sleep of innocence, knowing well that in the course of a few hours every stain on their characters would be wiped away.

But on Sunday they found that fate had a rather blow in reserve for them. Between six and eight o'clock in the evening—they can fix the time to a nicety—some malignant wretch broke into the Controller's office, walked straight up to the wooden closets in which the priceless papers were deposited, having probably consulted with some seer as to their whereabouts, and—incredible to relate—walked off with thirteen bundles of them. The Controller has never been able to afford to buy safes in which to keep his valuable papers, J. McBride Davidson having received only $404,347.72 for safes supplied during one year. This miserable sum did not allow of a safe being placed in the county bureau. As the Mayor says, the city and county expenditures have been "economical to penury" (sic)—that accounts for the city debt being now two hundred million dollars. If the people will not allow their rulers enough money to furnish their offices properly, they must expect to lose valuable documents.

When Hall and Connolly heard that these vouchers had been stolen they were almost heart-broken. They were not prepared for so strange a loss. The controller's books and accounts are generally guarded by a score of janitors, and by an endless number of clerks. Perhaps Mr. Connolly does not keep quite so many persons in his office as the New York Herald, which employs sixty thousand reporters—that, we believe, was the number it stated the other day—but he thought he had enough to watch safely over his papers. Imagine, then, his grief and consternation when he found that they had been stolen from under his very nose. We should have thought that everybody would have sympathized with him. But instead of that, people burst into a loud laugh when the story got wind, and went about asking each other with a broad grin, "have you heard of this robbery in the controller's office?" Even the City Hall officials, instead of showing any proper feeling, went about saying, in the slang of the hour, that it was "too thin." Are their hearts made of stone?

We entreat Controller Connolly and Mayor Hall to endure this visitation with fortitude. Although the vouchers are gone, Ingersoll can surely produce his books, showing when and to whom he supplied his five millions' worth of furniture. It cannot be that a man in his large way of business has not kept books. But it is said that he has left the country—a particularly unfortunate coincidence, seeing that the vouchers of transactions were so soon to be made away with. Even at the worst, however, Hall and Connolly are better off than they were before. The vouchers would have supplied undeniable proofs of their guilt—in the absence of these the Herald, the World, and the other ring papers can keep up a perpetual ding-dong about the "great robbery," under cover of which the brace of injured innocents may escape. Connolly boasts that he can "face it out." Of course he can. A man who could do what he has done is not easily capsized. He can stand the abstraction of these papers if the people can. And Hall and Connolly still retain unshaken faith in the gullibility of the dear public. They believe that this affair from beginning to end, is a nine-days' wonder which will all blow over. Presently the "Citizens Committee" will want to be poking its nose into the city accounts. They will ask for vouchers. Then there will be another secret auto da fé, another mysterious robbery, and the Controller and the Mayor will stand with their hands on their hearts, and tears pouring down their cheeks, assuring the public that they know nothing about it. The people will say, "Never mind; you are the victims of circumstances; we forgive you, and once more put our purses in your hands." The Herald will set its fifteen editorial writers (only one-fourth ("Europeans") to prove that Mayor Hall is the most honest and incorruptible official that ever adorned any government, ancient or modern. And so the little comedy will go on—unless the four chief performers should perchance have miscalculated the extent and elasticity of the public patience. In that case there might be a sudden end to all their lies and trickery, and the real thieves—the only thieves, the thieves without conscience or mercy—may be swept away in a great and terrible storm of indignation. We shall see what will happen.

Hiding the Plunder.

HALF A MILLION IN U. S. FUNDS TRANSFERRED TO JOEL FITHIAN BY MRS. CONNOLLY.

It was announced in the Tribune yesterday, that ex-Judge Barrett had been consulted on the feasability of recovering the large amount of money which the members of the ring are supposed to have abstracted from the treasury, and it was said that among the statements submitted to Judge Barrett, was one to the effect that Mrs. Mary Connolly had transferred half a million of United States bonds to her son-in-law, Joel Fithian, Esq. This statement appeared in very positive form in the Sun on Saturday last. That in the Tribune was not made on the authority of the Sun, however, but on that of others connected with the suit. Yesterday the Sun retracted its former statement in the following words, published on its editorial page, and this correction has been copied by papers which used the original statement:

We are informed by Mrs. R. B. Connolly that the report that she has recently transferred to her son-in-law half a million of dollars in registered bonds of the United States, and that she possesses three and a half more of registered bonds, is not true.

We have not been requested by the lady to recall the statement published in our columns, but hasten to do her justice in the matter. The actual facts of the rumored transfer appear in the following special dispatch from Washington to The Tribune:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11, 1871.

The denial in the New York journals, this morning, that Mrs. R. B. Connolly had recently transferred to her son-in-law, Joel Fithian, $500,000 in registered bonds of the United States, is not correct. Mrs. Connolly, on the 19th of last month, according to the account of the treasury department, transferred to said Fithian $200,000 in currency sixes, and $300,000 in the new five per cents or consolidated sixty-sevens.

The Episcopal Trouble.

CHENEY AND THE CHURCH IN CHICAGO—THE VISIT OF BISHOP WHITEHOUSE TO THE DISSENTING PASTOR — CHENEY HOLDS HIS GROUND AND THE BISHOP INSULTED.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10, 1871.

Long before the hour of morning service the avenues contained throngs of well-dressed ladies and gentlemen wending their way to Christ church, and by half-past ten the pews and aisles were crowded with anxious faces, expecting the Bishop to enter and administer the rite of confirmation. Being invited into the vestry room shortly before the service, your correspondent found the Rev. Mr. Cheney, habited in surplice, standing surrounded with several of his vestry.

At eleven o'clock Bishop Whitehouse arrived in his carriage, Mr. Crane, Junior Warden, following in his own. Mr. Crane received him at the door and conducted him to the vestry, where the other Warden, Philips, was with Cheney. Cheney extended his hand, cordially saying:

"Good morning, Bishop."

The Bishop placed his hands behind his back and replied:

"I cannot recognize you in any way in that garb."

The Bishop then spoke to the wardens; but Warden Crane assured him that he might proceed with the ceremony wholly or partially. Cheney would assist or not, as the Bishop pleased; but Cheney must remain in the chancel, as he was rector of the parish, and no power, Bishop or other, should keep him out.

Bishop—Does the church recognize him as pastor?

Warden—Undoubtedly.

The bishop then read his formal protest, stating that he was excluded by force from visiting the church, and bitterly accusing the wardens of malfeasance of office in espousing the cause of a degraded preacher against the spiritual Head of the Church.

Crane, the warden, replied firmly that no force was used; the Bishop was here to act, but would not be permitted to exclude Cheney.

The Bishop then withdrew in his own carriage.

Mr. Cheney entered the chancel and went on with the usual services, Mr. Thompson, one of his vestry, reading the service for him. He then preached a very stirring sermon from the text—

"I must work the works of Him that sent me, for the night cometh when no man can work."

He made no allusion to the state of affairs, and the congregation were left to conjecture the cause of the Bishop's non-fulfilment of his appointment till church was over.

The protest was not signed by the Bishop. The matter will probably come up before the Diocesan Convention, which meets in the Bishop's church on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. Thompson read the last psalm of the Psalter for the tenth day, psalm 52, and if it were intended that the Bishop and Mr. Cheney should be personified it is, to say the least, a pretty severe hit at the Bishop. Faint murmurs of applause were heard at some of the passages:

Why boastest thou thy thyself in mischief. O mighty man? the goodness of God endureth continually.

Thy tongue deviseth mischief; like a sharp razor working deceitfully.

Thou lovest evil more than good, and lying rather than to speak righteousness.

Thou lovest all devouring words, O thou deceitful tongue.

God shall likewise destroy thee for ever; he shall take thee away and pluck thee out of thy dwelling place; and root thee out of the land of the living.

The righteous also shall see and fear and laugh at him.

This is the man that made not God his strength; but trusted in the abundance of his riches and strengthened himself in his wickedness.

But I am like a green olive tree in the house of God. I trust in the mercy of God for ever and ever.

I will praise thee for ever because thou has done it; and I will wait on thy name, for it is good before thy saints.

The Bishop preached twice, but made no allusion to the affair. I saw him to-day, but he said he desired to make nothing public.

The wardens of Christ church say they will hold by Cheney to the end. Only one pew-holder in ninety-five is for the Bishop. They laugh at the idea of legal proceedings, but protest they are good churchmen. The whole matter comes up at the Diocesan Synod on Wednesday, when the church will likely be cut off as schismatic. Lively sympathy is felt by all dissenting creeds for Cheney. During the interview to-day the Bishop was perfectly pale with suppressed passion, while Cheney was very cool and pleasant. The impression is decidedly in his favor. The following is the Bishop's protest in full:

BISHOP WHITEHOUSE'S PROTEST.

As Bishop of Illinois, by the grace of God, I have come to this parish of Christ's church, under my lawful jurisdiction, to exercise my right and fulfil my duty of visitation, after due notice given of the same by me, and publicly given by the authority of the wardens. I find myself obstructed in the fulfilment of my duties in a manner which neither personal respect nor official propriety allow me to disregard, and which I have no adequate means of removing. I am met by the arbitrary dictation on the part of the officers of the church that I must acknowledge and receive as worthy and competent to stand at his altar a minister degraded after trial by his peers from his office in the Church of God. This insult and hindrance are enforced upon me after my remonstrance against its unlawful form and its violation of my episcopal authority. It is done also in face of warnings as to its effect on the administration on the corporate trust, and involves in the relation an overt purpose to separate this church from its lawful and inalienable connection with the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States and from the Diocese of Illinois, of which I am spiritual head. For this malfeasance in trust, in addition to this moral and ecclesiastical delinquency and this violation of official decorum, you, as wardens and vestrymen, are responsible, and, in my official character as Bishop of the Diocese, I hereby enter my solemn protest; but, as this injury and compulsion leave me no honorable alleviation, I submit to the force and retire from the church.

Barnum's Operations.

Correspondence Rochester Democrat.

Mr. Barnum is not only one of the most remarkable men of the present age, but it must be acknowledged that he is one of the greatest showmen that the world ever saw. In his hands, as has been said, the most worthless exhibitions are successful. A withered crone becomes the venerable nurse of George Washington, and adoring crowds visit her as she lies gasping on her dying bed. A deformed idiot is boldly set forth as an enigma to engage the attention of savans and naturalists. A Chinese idol in his hands becomes the wondrous mermaid, and a pair of ricketty dwarfs stolen from the Peruvian Indians are made to attract crowds under the poetic title of the "Aztec children." Had Barnum manipulated the Cardiff giant it never would have "pegged out," as it did, but would have retained its pristine dignity and importance. Barnum is now immensely rich. His property is estimated at $2,000,000, and his age is upwards of sixty-five, but the impulses of his restless ambition are as sleepless as ever. For such a man to remain in a state of leisure were to a great degree distressing. As long as he can move his destiny demands motion. Hence he cannot remain either in New York or in Bridgeport. He owns the block in Broadway, between Bleecker and Houston streets, which is worth at least $1,050,000, and perhaps more. This is in the hands of an agent, while the owner is on his travels. Barnum found New York with all its excitement too quiet for him, and hence he has organized the greatest circus and managerie the world has ever seen, and this is now moving triumphantly through the land. His expenses are $1,500 per day, but he takes in from $3,000 to $5,000 at every show. Once in a while he gets off a suicide, like that of his clown at Schenectady, which is a great hit. Everybody wants to see a show where the clown lets off his joke with a dose of strychnine in his pocket, or a sharp jack-knife to make his quietus with the next day. Some now, however, think that the Schenectady suicide was only a "sell" to keep up the excitement, and that they will have another and better suicide before the season is over. It is expected that the mammoth circus will winter in this city if a place large enough for its exhibition can be had. Perhaps, however, it will divide and half of it winter here and the other half in Boston or Philadelphia. Barnum has no sons; but two of his daughters are married in this city, and are living in good style. I think that if Barnum had flourished in the days of Nero and had managed the great conflicts of animals and gladiators in the old coliseum their success would have been still greater, and perhaps his reputation might have saved the old building from going to ruin. Barnum is as fresh and lively as a cricket. The days of Joyce Heth, Tom Thumb, Jenny Lind and the "What-is-it" are past. He has gone through a dozen phases of a showman's life, and now he comes out in a new role, as manager of a traveling circus and menagerie. In this one may see progress. Tom Thumb was all very well, but Jenny Lind was a step in advance, while her attractions in turn gave way before the "What-is-it;" and now the amazing menagerie and the suicide clown cast all the past into a shadow. Verily, we live in an age of wonders, of which Barnum is chief.

Horse Gossip.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman signing himself "Veterinarian," says: Color, really, has nothing to do with either good or bad qualities; instead of which, temperament has all to do with color, or nearly so. Now, first, as to the dark chestnut and the dark brown. So far as my observation goes, they and the blood bay are more exempt from disease than any other color, if we except the dun, or as it is erroneously called, the cream, which is much objected to.

Dapple, or dark grays, are subject to fungeous excrescences, commonly called warts.

Black horses are, according to my experience, more subject to affections of the eyes than those of any other color. They are also, as a rule, faulty in the feet, and although pretty, are not of a vigorous, rugged constitution.

What horseman does not, of his own experience, know what the different shades of sorrel are subject to? They are, as a rule, the most skittish of the equine family. Who, among experienced, good horsemen does not know that of all bauky horses he has ever had to do with, more than half, at least, light sorrels, or sorrels of some shade? The most vicious of all horses are to be found among the sorrels.

For intelligence or general usefulness, for beauty, and indeed for all purposes for which the horse may be required, the above three colors will fill the bill. Let no person for a moment understand me to affirm that there are no good horses of all and every shade of color; but I do wish to be understood to mean this: In breeding breed always from the best, for it costs no more in any sense.

The white horse is usually of good constitution and docile. The spotted horse is very hardy, though much objected to by most persons on account of its color.

International Postal Money-Order System.

The system of postal money-orders which has been concluded between the United States and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, goes into operation here on Monday, the 24 of October. As there are reasonable grounds for anticipating quite an extensive business at that point, we publish, as a matter of general interest, a brief statement of the most important points to be regarded by those who propose sending small amounts to friends and relatives in Great Britain.

The maximum of the orders is fixed at fifty dollars. Blank applications will be kept on hand at the post-office. Applicants must be prepared to state the full name and exact residence of the payee, giving the town or village and county. The issuing postmaster cannot decide definitely upon the actual value in United States gold coin of a certain sum in currency for which an international order is issued, owing to the fluctuation in the premium in gold. The department can only agree to cause payment to be made to the beneficiary in Great Britain of the value of the amount of United States currency paid, in at the issuing office, taking the premium of gold into consideration. All international money-orders are drawn on New York. The postmaster at New York, on receipt of an order enters the premium on gold on that day, value of the order in United States gold, and the value of the order in sterling, and returns the coupon to the issuing postmaster, who files it with the corresponding application, for reference in case of inquiry by the remitter. The remitter can therefore ascertain at this post-office upon the return of the coupon from New York city the exact amount which will be paid to the beneficiary in Great Britain. The fees have been fixed as follows, viz:

On orders not exceeding	$10 00	$0 25
Over $10, and not exceeding	20 00	0 50
" 20, " "	30 00	0 75
" 30, " "	40 00	1 00
" 40, " "	50 00	1 2

LIGHTING PASSENGER CARS.—The horrors of railroad accidents are frequently increased by fire, caused by the ignition of the burning fluid in the lamps which light the cars. There is a law on the statute books of Massachusetts intended to avoid this danger. It reads as follows:

Sec. 1. No passenger cars on any railroad in this Commonwealth shall hereafter be lighted with naptha, or any illuminating oil made from coal, or petroleum, or any illuminating oil made in part of naptha, or coal, or petroleum oil, or any other illuminating oil which will ignite at a temperature of less than 110° Farenheit, to be ascertained by Tagbahne's or some other approved instrument.

The second section provides a penalty of $500 for each violation of the law.

A reading of the law shows the carelessness with which it is drawn. It is difficult to decide whether its purpose is to prohibit the use of kerosene and similar fluids entirely, or whether it refers only to such oils when they ignite at a less temperature than 100 degrees Fahrenheit. We hope that the next Pennsylvania Legislature will improve upon the above, and give us such an enactment as will effectually preclude the possibility of such appalling disasters as we have so frequently recorded.

RELIABILITY OF GAS METERS.—The reliability of gas meters has been doubted and will continue to be doubted, till such time as some inventive genius has put the question at rest by an infallible recorder. A scientific writer, who speaks by the card, says:

"The great and all important question is, can the meter at all times be relied on as a faithful and unerring arbitrator? I unhesitatingly say it cannot, and as a rule the consumer has to suffer for the short comings of the meter. By way of illustration, we will take a new dry meter, test it in the usual way, let it run for six months, let it stand for two months, and the probability is that it will be from five to ten per cent fast. This is due entirely to the diaphragm's contracting. Another source of error: suppose the tagnet that governs the revolutions gets misplaced the meter is all at sea. I will give a case which occurred in my own business.

"In the year 1867 I had occasion to make experiments in London for a large printing establishment, whose consumption was very regular, and rated, with the use of my patent governor and pressure indicator, 12,000 feet per week, never varying 300 feet. After being in this state for three months, the consumption went to 18,000, which was detected in the first week. The meter was tested, and proved twenty per cent. fast; another meter brought us to the 15,000. This meter was tested and stamped under the meter act of 1860, and up to that time mentioned had registered correctly."

The croakers who predicted that the Mount Cenis tunnel would prove a failure are likely to be disappointed. On the 11th of this month a railroad train passed all the way through with entire success The tunnel will be formally opened for travel on the 17th of September.

A cheerful savant has discovered that mosquitoes are a providential guard against disease, upon the supposition that in summer the human system is peculiarly liable to fever, and the insects by depositing the quantity of blood get up a counter irritation.

A new bird-cage is in vogue. It is made of wood, such as rustic chairs in parks, and is so ingeniously covered with leaves and flowers growing in the earth at the bottom as to wholly hide the wood and wire. The birds seem within a little bower of natural flowers.

In New York, some time ago, a man, having a suit of rooms to let, put a sign in the window directing applicants where to call, and was astonished to receive no applications. After some weeks he investigated the matter, and found a black alley, leaving the front door locked and the sign in the window. All applicants were informed that the rooms were just let.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.

The great processions of the various workingmen's unions in demonstration of their resolutions to insist on the eight hour a day rule, took place to-day. There were in all eighteen societies represented, and despite the rain large numbers turned out in each body. In all not less than twelve thousand were in line, and they presented a very fine appearance as they filed along the street with their rich banners and insignia. The members were dressed in holiday attire, the majority wearing aprons neatly trimmed at the edges. The procession attracted large numbers of spectators who followed in its wake. A small common, drawn by eight men attired in white, bore the inscription, "eight hours, peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must."

Application was made this morning before Surrogate Hutchins for a commissioner to examine the heirs of the late Mr. Barnard, claimants of property, who live in France. The surrogate heard the argument on both sides and reserved his decision. Prof. Bergh, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the organization to which the testator left the bulk of his fortune, was present in court

The Committee of Seventy met yesterday, and the Committee on Remedies submitted a report which was read by the chairman. It commended the institution both of criminal and civil suits against the persons implicated; the appointment of a committee on election and legislation, and also of the Committee of Ten to wait upon the Governor of the state to request his aid in conjunction with the Attorney General and District Attorney to begin proceedings for the relief of the city. After considerable discussion the report was accepted and the several recommendations adopted unanimously.

The committee of citizens appointed to examine Comptroller Connolly's accounts, met this forenoon and appointed a subcommittee on city and county debts, armories and drill rooms, court house, printing and advertising, stationery and bill books, pay rolls, law and corporation indentures. The meeting then adjourned subject to call of the chair.

Superintendent Norton, of the money order department of the post-office, has confessed that he is a defaulter to the amount of $115,000, and that he and his wife have voluntarily surrendered all their property at Plainfield, N. Y., consisting of a farm of several acres, valuable houses, etc., estimated in all at about $170,000. This property, as we have already stated, was placed in the hands of one General Jones, bondsmen in trust for the remainder, and steps have been taken to sell it and turn the proceeds over to the general bondsmen to secure them from loss. Horace Greeley, Samuel St. Clair, Sheridan Shook and Abraham Wakeman are bondsmen. The government will not suffer by the defalcation. It has been ascertained that Norton drew the funds from the Sub-Treasury and deposited them with a broker for use on the street for speculations. The money order account was entirely in his control and there was no check upon his operations.

The annual session of the Ancient Order of Good Fellows commenced yesterday, and delegations from twelve states were present. The opening address was delivered by the National Grand Master. He congratulated those present on the satisfactory condition of the Order, sketched its standings and workings, and made several suggestions to secure future good government. The secretary's report showed a steady, hopeful improvement in the state of the Order is manifest throughout the state. The treasurer's report showed upwards of $500,000 was subscribed during the year for benevolent purposes.

Smith, the Indian agent of the Chippewas, regarding the matter, who replies that settlers lately from Islanti county, have by fraudulent papers seized upon land in the Lillo Lac reservation, the Indian title to which has never been relinquished or extinguished, and by means of whisky and petty temptations have led the Indians into thieving and depredations with a view to their removal by the United States authorities.

The morning session of the Episcopal Diocesian Convention was devoted to the annual address of Bishop Whitehouse. He hoped that in the future the harmony of the church would typify its history in the church The freedom of conscience was admitted within the bounds of season and religion. Their duty was to stand firmly by the dogma and teachings of the Angelican church, and not give way to an individual whim or overweaning presumption. The training of our youth was a most important element of the sustainment of religion, and is here and mothers should see to it that the wiles of other sects should not wean their children from the true faith. Parents should be religious in practice as well as in theory, now that their children should not be tempted to worship God at other and stranger shrines than those of the Angelican church. He alluded particularly to the danger of allowing young persons to come within the dangerous and seductive influence of Roman Catholics in seminaries more especially. The Angelican faith, which was the faith of old England, was a counteracting influence to the alluring wiles of Rome. There were more, said the Bishop, who might call him a ritualist. He believed in the book of common prayer, and thought that the liturgy of the church should not be lightly altered. Some changes in the prayer were to be advocated at the approaching Episcopal convention, but as it stood now it was the ecclesiastical law and should be maintained. The Bishop then referred to the case of Mr Cheeny, dwelling at length on the points which have been before the public for a long time. Mr. Cheeny, he said, had been suspended from all functions in the church of God, but the trustees of Christ's church had sustained him as pastor of that church. The congregation also sustained him, and the wardens would only recognize Bishop Whitehouse so far as he recognized Mr. Cheeny as a minister of the Angelican church. The Bishop dwelt at some length on his late visitation to Christ Church, and maintained his original position on all points of the controversy. He strongly censured the wardens for continuing to employ a degraded clergyman, and disposed of them by placing them in the same category with the naughty they had sustained. The Bishop closed by sensiling the irreligious tendencies of the day, and the reprehensible conduct of the daily press in sustaining them.

Over-doctored.—Without any disrespect to the members of the medical profession a profession honored by all thinking men, it is only just to say that they are too thick on the ground The consequence is that the community is doctored over much. When nature needs only the gentle stimulant and alterative which has become famous throughout the country as a reliable medicine, under the name of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, she is not unfrequently dosed with a dozen prescriptions, all experimental, from the Pharmacopoia. This is an evil, and prov s that the practice of medicine is far from being at all times a healing art. At this period of the year, when the fall of the leaf indicates that decay has seized upon the vegetable kingdom, many harrassing diseases are prevalent. Chi f among these may be mentioned intermittent fever and bilious remittent. The exhalations rising from decomposing vegetation, and the heavy dews and fogs, are very apt to generate these complaints The wisest policy is to protect the system by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters at the commencement of the fall Much suffering may thereby be avoided. But if the disease has already begun, its periodical visitations may readily be checked and broken up by this active, yet harmless, vegetable tonic.

But be on your guard against the charlatans who are attempting to palm off, under various names, unwholesome compounds, which they pretend to compare favorably with the great national elixir which has long since swept more formidable opposition from the field. Bear in mind that every bottle of genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is authenticated by a splendid diy engraved label, and a fac simile of the sign manual of the firm. Put up in bottles only, and cannot be obtained in bulk.

7-30 GOLD LOAN

OF THE

Northern Pacific Railroad.

Rapid Progress of the Work.

The building of the Northern Pacific Railroad, (begun July last) is being pushed forward with great energy from both extremities of the line. Seventeen thousand men are employed in Minnesota and on the Pacific coast. The grade is nearly completed 260 miles westward from Lake superior trains are running over 130 miles of finished road and track-laying is rapidly progressing to meet the eastern border of Dakota, including the purchase of the St. Paul & Pacific road, the Northern Pacific Company now has 413 miles of completed road, and by September next this will be increased to at least 600.

A GOOD INVESTMENT. Jay Cooke & Co. are now selling, and unhesitatingly recommend, as a reliable and perfectly safe investment, the First Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific railroad company They have 30 years to run, bear seven and three tenths per cent gold interest (more than 8 per cent currency) and are secured by first and only mortgage on the entire road and its equipments, and also, as fast as the road is completed, on 23,000 ACRES OF LAND to every mile of track, or 500 acres for each $1,000 Bond. They are exempt from U. S. Taxes; principal and interest are payable in Gold: Denominations: Coupons, $100 to $1,000; Registered, $100 to $10,000.

LAND GRANT BONDS. Northern Pacific 7-30's are at all times receivable at ten per cent. above par, in exchange for the Company's Lands at their lowest cash price. This renders them practically interest Bearing Land Warrants.

SINKING FUND. The proceeds of all sales of Lands are required to be devoted to the re-purchase and cancellation of the First Mortgage bonds of the company. The Land Grant of the road exceeds fifty million acres. This immense Sinking Fund will immediately cancel the principal of the Company's bonded debt before it falls due. With their ample security and high rate of interest, there is a investment, accessible to the people, which is more profitable or safe.

EXCHANGED U. S. FIVE-TWENTIES. The success of the New Government, 5 per cent. Loan will compel the early surrender of United States 6 per cent. Bonds held by holders of Five-Twenties now exchanging them for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties, thus realizing a handsome profit, and greatly increase their yearly income.

Welcome to President Grant.

President Grant will visit the oil regions to-day for the first time, and will tarry for a little while in our city. He will take the opportunity to visit some of the oil wells, and witness the practical development of petroleum, one of the most important resources of the commonwealth, and leading material interests of the country. Though his visit is unofficial, and he is averse to public display or demonstration, still it is unavoidable that the spontaneous feeling of respect and admiration entertained, both for the man and the exalted office he fills, should inspire a suitable expression.

The Common Council of our city have embraced the occasion of tendering to our Chief Magistrate the hospitalities of Titusville. Arrangements have been made to convey the presidential party, in carriages, through some of the leading streets of our city; they will then partake of breakfast at the Parshall House, after which, an opportunity will be offered our citizens of paying their respects to the President, in an informal way, at the parlors of the hotel previous to his departure at nine a. m.

It is not consistant with either the wishes or expectations of the President, that any elaborate entertainment or demonstration should be indulged in, and he will not, of course, be subjected, as he is accompanied by his family, to set speeches or a formal parade without his consent. For many years Gen. Grant has been used to crowds, to noise and tumult, to scenes of popular excitement and to outbursts of welcome from the people everywhere. For four years he bore the burdens and responsibilities of the war upon his shoulders, taking no respite from its cares and trials; and peace has brought him scarcely any relaxation. Called by a generous people, by an almost universal voice, to the head of the government, before our civil convulsions had subsided, and while political animosities were still afire, his task as President is scarcely less onerous and severe and exhausting now than in the past. The brief season of recreation and repose permitted him, in the recess of Congress, he naturally desires to pass without ostentation or disturbance, visiting friends and consulting the convenience and private wishes of his family and his own curiosity like any other man and citizen.

That something of the form and splendor of a popular ovation should attend his steps is inevitable. It is the penalty of his distinguished position and illustrious merit, and service. It is the irrepressible echo of a fame, written in immortal characters on the pages of our history.

In honoring him we but emphasize our esteem of some of the best traits of American citizenship, intellect, patriotism, honesty, simplicity and undying steadfastness.

Let us, then, in no party spirit, but as fellow-citizens, by this popular testimonial, by this outpouring of our whole population to greet President Grant, exhibit our faith in and love of our country—our whole country, the Union indissoluble, Liberty imperishable, the National honor and obligations, at home and throughout all the earth, sacred and inviolable. Welcome! Thrice welcome, Soldier! Statesman! Citizen-President! Welcome to Titusville, in the name of the People! ex

ABBOTT PANTOMIME TROUPE.—The entertainment given by the above troupe last evening at the Opera House, was witnessed by a large audience. The performance was greeted from beginning to end with shouts of laughter and loud applause. All the mechanical contrivances worked smoothly, and the different scenes passed off with that snap and vim which should characterize all pantomime acts, but which we see so seldom in ordinary companies. This troupe is something above the general character of pantomime troupes and the actors possess special abilities peculiar to this line of mimicry. Mr. Abbott, the clown, stands, without a doubt, at the head of his profession and is in himself a host. His inimitable gestures and comical facial expression are irresistable. Winter Ravel, as Harlequin, displays a wonderful agility, and while on the stage is contiqually in motion, being here, there, and everywhere at the same moment. Messrs. Christie and Franklin, were both good in their respective roles. Columbine (Miss Duffield) is a sort of thankless character, and has little to do, but Miss Duffield made everything possible out of it; she is graceful and a good dancer. The skating of the Moe Brothers is good, and drew forth repeated encores. Their imitation of a young man learning to skate was very amusing. Jerry Cohen gave some good character imitations, and did several Irish songs and dances. Altogether the entertainment is truly enjoyable, and should be witnessed by everyone. Secure your seats for to-night.

A NEW well was struck yesterday upon a tract of land near the mouth of the Clarion river, owned by H. A. Spear & Co., formerly of Shamburg, which was doing fully forty barrels per day at last accounts. This well is about a mile from the mouth of the Clarion river, and opens up a comparatively new field for future operations.

OWING to unavoidable delay Miss Foster's select school, in Fertig block, will not be opened until Monday, the 18th instant.

The President's Reception in Titusville.

President Grant, accompanied by his sister, his three children, and a few personal friends, will arrive in Titusville by special train at 7:30 a. m. A committee, consisting of Messrs. J. A. Cadwallader, J. H. Cogswell, M. N. Allen, W. C. Allen, S. Minor and E. A. L. Roberts, will meet him at Corry, and tender him the hospitalities of our city. The Common Council and Committee of Reception previously appointed will be in waiting with carriages at the depot, and the Presidential party will be escorted to the Parshall House by the following route: Franklin street to Spring, Spring to Drake street, Drake street to Main, Main to Washington, up Washington, through Union to Perry, down Perry to Spring, Spring to Parshall House.

After partaking of breakfast there will be an informal reception in the hotel parlors, after which the President will be introduced to the citizens from the balcony.

In the absence of the Mayor a short address of welcome will be delivered by Mr. Cadwallader, Chairman of Council, and the President will doubtless respond with characteristic brevity.

The special train will leave with the Presidential party at 9 o'clock.

The Citizens' Meeting.

Pursuant to notice a meeting of citizens was held at the Col. Drake engine-house last evening, to consider the question of locating the repair and manufacturing shops of the Oil Creek and Allegheny River Railroad in this city.

Hon. F. W Ames was called to the chair, and W. C. Plummer appointed secretary.

The chairman stated the object of the meeting, and remarked that it was important immediate action should be taken, as the question of removing the shops was to be decided at a meeting of the board of directors on Friday of this week. The terms of the proposition were then discussed. The company had engaged to remove their shops to Titusville on condition that the requisite lands were furnished them for that purpose, and this could be done by raising a public subscription of $15,000, only $4,000 of which had been guaranteed

M. N. Allen moved that a committee of three be appointed to ascertain if fifteen men could be found who would become responsible for the amount.

The motion was adopted, and Messrs. O Keese, A R. Williams and J. D. Angier were appointed such committee.

A resolution was then adopted asking the Council to appropriate the sum of $15,000 in city bonds for the purchase of said bonds, conditionally that a satisfactory guaranty was furnished the city that said amount would be raised by public subscription.

On motion, Dr. Willard, W. W. Bloss and John Meising were appointed a committee to prepare and circulate the petition to the Council, asking the necessary appropriation under satisfactory guarantees.

Moved that the committee on subscription be instructed to visit the owners of the lands selected for the shops, and ascertain if the city bonds would be accepted in payment. Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE STEAMER CITY OF TITUSVILLE.—The steam fire engine City of Titusville was yesterday taken to the bridge over the mill race on Franklin street, for the purpose of doing the work which it on Tuesday failed to accomplish, namely, pumping water from the race below the bridge into the newly dug sewer trench on that street. The engine worked admirably. The engineer informed us as we yesterday stated, that in addition to the want of fluid packing, a considerable quantity of gravel was found in the valves of the pump. The engineer is employed for the purpose of keeping the engine and pump in running order, and it is to be hoped that in future the necessary precautions will be taken to keep the valves properly packed, and at the same time free from gravel and debris, so that it may be relied upon at any moment in case of emergency.

PLEASANTVILLE G. T. RESOLUTIONS.—At a regular meeting of Summit Temple, No. 49, I. O. of G. T., the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That we are not in favor of any interference with the politics of Venango county, at the present time, by the Good Templars as an organization, and we are heartily opposed to the movement now being made for the purpose of placing a third candidate for Associate Judge before the people of Venango county.

REMEMBER that W. H. Andrews opens this morning, at the great New York store 61, 63 and 65 Spring street, the largest collection of silks, shawls, dress goods, laces, carpets, &c., ever brought into Western Pennsylvania. We advise our lady friends to be sure to go the New York store to-day, as we know they will feel well paid when they see the splendid stock that Mr. Andrews will have on exhibition.

H. S. CATE, of Tidioute, Pa, has received a patent on an attachment for stuffing boxes to stop back suction of oil wells while drawing tubing It has been used with success in every instance. It is something that no oil operator can afford to be without. They are manufactured at Andrews & Co.s' foundry in Tidioute.

The Meeting Last Evening.

The meeting to discuss the subject of the establishment of the Oil Creek railroad shops in this city, was held last evening, and an account of the proceedings will be found in another column. Our citizens must make up their minds and decide quickly upon this proposition. They have all the facts and arguments before them, and it seems superfluous to reiterate what is so plain to every understanding. With these shops, our city will grow in a day, as rapidly as it would do, under ordinary circumstances, in a course of years. The demand for city lots, for houses to live in, will be instantaneous, and the effects upon trade, in all its branches upon all the professions would also be here beneficially felt, and continue to be felt. It would be but the beginning to a dozen kindred industries and pursuits. Objections will always exist to every project. Those who are indifferent to the end proposed are apt to cavil at the ways and means. One would have another location, and another better terms. But change the site, and abate the price, there will still be discontents and malcontents. It is impossible all should be suited and accommodated. The railroad has selected the territory they require, and if the owners get a round sum it must be admitted that they also contribute liberally. The question is not what A, B or C are going to make, but what our city is going to make or lose, for all of us will be sure to share in the general growth and prosperity of our town. Men of wealth! give a helping hand to our young town, to its young tradesmen and mechanics struggling up the hill of fortune. You are at the top, secure in your towers of independence. Help your brothers in their ascent and they will remember you. Sacrifice a little for them, even if you do not deal in trade or merchandise or real estate. Let us see the roll of the city's benefactors. If we let Corry or Oil City, its wealthy men and business men outdo us, in zeal, pride liberality and sacrifice, we deserve to take an inferior place and to keep it.

If Titusville is for, a paltry $15,000 in hand, to forego a quarter of a million of dollars added to its circulation annually for an indefinite number of years, to say nothing about the real estate investments and the buildings for hundreds of families; if we are to let slip such a prize, we should resign our pretensions to be the chief city of the oil district, and let the sceptre pass to Oil City. Let us not be too boastful; let us not grow careless and go to sleep; let us do what the occasion demands.

Important Discovery.

HOW TO PROCURE HEAVY OIL FROM BENZINE.

It has been recently discovered that pure benzine, which leaves no oliagenous stain on paper, can be decomposed at comparatively low temperatures, and is thereby converted into heavy lubricating oil and light vapors. The apparatus for practically doing this is a series of Woulfe's bottles, the first of which is connected with a steam boiler. These bottles are iron cylinders, having a capacity of several hundred gallons, or, if need be, barrels. They are filled half full of benzine, and the steam is admitted through them under pressure, and at a temperature not exceeding 300 degrees, F. The decomposition appears to take place in the vapors rather than in the liquid, light incondensible vapors passing upwards, and heavy oil falling down into the benzine below. The apparatus is operated continuously by pumping in the benzine, as the process goes on. When the heavy oil accumulates, it is drawn off at the bottom, the largest quantity being found in the first cylinder. This fully demonstrates that the lighter products of petroleum are decomposed at a heat under 300 degrees F, which is a most important point for refiners to know.

SEDUCTION AND ATTEMPTED SUICIDE—Catharine Eagle, a girl of nineteen years, attempted to take her life yesterday, by an overdose of morphine, under very distressing circumstances. It appears that being an orphan, she came to reside with her uncle, Mr Henry Eba, in Titusville, about two years ago. At this time she was a pure, innocent, and unsophisticated girl, and an easy prey to the schemes of the first villain who might come along. After being here only a short time, she formed the acquaintance of a young man who very soon had the girl in his power, and seduced her under promise of marriage. The result of this illegal intimacy became apparent in the birth of a male child last Christmas, when its father abandoned her, and utterly refused to fulfil his promise. Meanwhile her relatives turned her out of doors, and the unfortunate, with her newly born babe, was compelled in the depth of winter to seek refuge among strangers. She wandered from house to house, sometimes almost starved to death with cold and hunger. Finally she got a situation about eight miles from town, in the capacity of a domestic. Here she worked until lately, when she was compelled to leave, owing to her employer abusing the child, and refusing to have it in the house any longer. She found her way back to this city, and endeavored to procure work, but everyone gave her the cold shoulder. Her scanty funds soon gave out, and heartbroken and disgusted she again wandered through the streets, bearing a most haggard and pitiable aspect. Sometimes she found temporary shelter for a night in one of the many small shanties in the nighborhood of Mechanic street, generally going there late at night. On Tuesday night, at half-past eleven o'clock, she called at a small house in the swamp, near the freight depot of the Union and Titusville road. The woman of the house, contrary to the wishes of her husband charitably took her in and gave her shelter for the night. She remained there during yesterday morning, and about twelve o'clock took an overdose of morphine to destroy herself. Notice was at once given to Justice Strouse, and Dr. Barr was summoned, and succeeded in counteracting the effects of the poison. What will become of this homeless wanderer is as yet a matter of doubt. She has committed the fault of confiding in a heartless villian, who has deserted her, and is a deserving object of charity to the benevolent.

A NEW wire will be completed to-day from Oil City to Titusville, by the Western Union Telegraph Company, for the benefit of the oil trade. This company are extending and re-building every day so as to accommodate the public and facilitate their fast increasing business. The liberal and able manner in which its popular and efficient superintendent, Mr. C. O. Rowe, has conducted their business in the oil region, seems to be appreciated. The rate to Corry has been reduced to twenty-five cents. All reductions in rates and increased facilities and accommodations that can be justifiably made from time to time to accommodate the public, are made, and ought to secure for this company a wide and liberal patronage.

For the Herald.

SEPTEMBER.

Once more the voices of fair Autumn call,
From forests reddening 'neath September skies;
And mingling softly with the waterfall,
There comes a sigh from Summer ere she dies.
Among the fields of golden harvest corn,
The quail pipes forth his shrill and merry strain,
And ere the dew hath melted in the morn
The partridge sounds his reveille again.

At night, when cooling shadows fall around,
And pearly vapors curtain vale and hill,
Is heard the melancholy dirge-like sound
The cricket's song, and plaintive whippoorwill.
The grapes grow purple 'neath the harvest moon,
And dropping nuts the nightly stillness break,
While from the distant morass sounds the loon
Her mournful cry that echoes o'er the lake.

But in the saddest of September hours
There comes a fragrant breath of summer breeze
That brings a memory of spring's first flowers,
Culled years ago 'neath bright unfaded trees.
The hands that pressed mine then I feel once more,
And hear soft voices in my Autumn dreams,
Yet drifting onward to that wintry shore,
I scarce can see a future Summer's gleams.

Letter from Towanda.

TOWNVILLE, Sept. 12.

Editors Morning Herald:

The friends of Calvary Church, Townville, will, no doubt, be glad to learn that it is prospering slowly. The building is now enclosed by a neat fence, and the church property is valued at three thousand dollars, and only about six hundred dollars more will finish it for consecration.

The church has received many substantial proofs of friendship lately; from Christ Church, Meadville, a reading desk, and from St. John's Church, Rousseville, a chandelier. The Sunday-school children were working for a chancel carpet, which they expected to get about next Christmas. Great was their surprise and delight therefor on receiving a handsome new one, as a present from Calvary Church, Philadelphia.

The ladies had it put down the day before the Bishop's visit, which was August 27th, and a number of happy children and grown people gathered together for that morning service, in spite of the rain which fell in torrents nearly all day.

At the evening service four more were added to the little band of church people by the rite of confirmation. All are now working earnestly and prayerfully for the completion of the church, and then they may hope for a settled minister. O.

CAMP MEETING—ACCIDENTS.

STAND OFF CITY, Sept. 12, 1871.

Editors Morning Herald:

Stand Off again speaketh. Harken, ch ye people! We think a city of as much importance as this should, of course, have its news chronicled at least once a week in the HERALD The Methodist bush meeting closed last Friday. Thirteen persons united with the church, and quite a number have been converted that do not intend to join the Methodists. We think the impression left by the meeting on the community is good, and will be lasting. Another meeting was commenced last evening at Walnut Bend, under the auspices of the M. E. Church, and we wish them the success that they will no doubt meet with there.

Another benzine accident happened last Friday night. As Mr. P. Slocum was cleaning some clothes with benzine, of which he had about two quarts, the gas ignited from a lighted match, filling the house with flames instantly, and quite badly burning Mr. Slocum, who saved his life by jumping from an open window. Mr. S. succeeded in saving his house, but lost nearly two hundred dollars in money, besides some goods, clothing, etc. We think a few more such accidents will teach people to be more careful in the use of benzine. Yours, T. J. P.

TITUSVILLE REFINERS VERSUS THE NEW YORK BULLETIN.—The New York Bulletin has contained many exhaustive articles, lately, for the purpose of proving that New York city is the only place on the planet where crude can be converted into refined oil with any degree of profit. Strange to say, however, the more they have written upon the subject, the more have the eyes of the New York refiners been opened to the fact that they are driving the crude out of its legitimate channel. The consequence is, that several refining firms in New York, rather than allow their works to stand idle, have made contracts with refineries in the West to refine the oil for them; that is to say, to deprive it of its benzine and tar and ship it to them to be treated in their agitators. If any one fact is more convincing than another that the refining business in New York is rotten to the foundation, it is this last desperate effort to keep up a show of competition. But the Bulletin has a most extraordinary way of misconstruing facts and figures, which has lately brought its columns, relating to this subject into, contempt. Titusville is the only legitimate head centre of refining, and so far as treating the oil with chemicals is concerned, a large portion of the refined oil shipped by our refiners brings half a cent advance in the market over that which is manufactured either in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, New York or any other point in the country. We can also say that no distillate is shipped by any of our refiners to be treated in New York. A Buffalo firm finds it more economical to refine their oil at Miller farm, and ship the distillate to be treated in Buffalo. The firm of Day & Co. in Tidioute, ship two or three car loads per week to keep a few broken-down refineries in New York running, but our legitimate refiners in Titusville all treat their own oil, as the natural advantages for doing so here, are better and more economical in every particular than elsewhere. We have, by request of our refiners, refrained from publishing the details of the natural advantages possessed by Titusville as a refining point, and the New York Bulletin has had the entire field to itself. The following is the most recent of its denunciations:

"We have repeatedly, and judging by the long continued silence of our western cotemporaries representing the petroleum interest, successfully demonstrated the fact that New York is the best place whereat to prepare refined oil for export Even the freight tariff seaward, by which the railway companies so persistently discriminate in favor of refined oil made at western centres and against crude oil intended for manufacture in New York, has not been able to neutralize the natural advantages that constitute this port the point at which refined oil, even when the process of refining it is only partially carried on here, can be rendered fit for consumption on the most favorable conditions. The position we have for nearly a year maintained on this subject, has recently received another and a new verification of its soundness. "Di-tillate" of petroleum is refined oil in the first stage—that is to say, in the state in which it requires to have its explosive gases eliminated, to be deodorized and to have secured for it a safe burning test. Large quantities of distillate made at the West have within the past few months been shipped to our refiners for the purpose of being rendered fit for consumption and then exported; and it has been and continues to be shipped here for the final process of treating," (or clarification) because, as we have frequently shown by figures which have never been controverted, New York furnishes the necessary chemicals, machinery and labor, at lower prices than the same can be obtained for at the West. This, we repeat, is the case despite the railway discriminations that favor the oil refining business at other places at the expense of New York interests. The same facts that render the last part of the process of oil refining cheaper and better here than elsewhere apply with equal force to the first part of that process. In view of this truth, it certainly seems that no additional argument ought to be required to induce the railway managers to establish at once the pro-rata freight rate on crude and refined oil for which we have so long contended.

THE Warren county agricultural fair will be held in Youngsville, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 14th, 15th, and 16th. The officers are making every arrangement for the comfort and convenience of visitors and exhibitors It bids fair to excel any heretofore held in the county. The half mile trotting track is in excellent condition, and lovers of fast horses will be on the qui vive. An invitation is extended to all adjoining counties, to compete for premiums. The Allen Zouaves, of Warren, will be on the ground dressed in their new uniform and looking as ferocious as wolves. Stright's Quadrille Band will discourse music suitable for the enjoyment of the light heeled "lads and lasses." In fact, everything consistent will be done to make a pleasant reunion of the social and agricultural interests of this section.—Cor. Erie Dispatch

Gossip About Women.

Chief Justice Howes, of Omaha, decides that women are legal voters in all the states of the union.

Kansas has a splendid home for "friendless women." There are agents all over the state looking up subjects.

The woman women announce that Mr. Sumner will, at the next session of Congress, introduce a bill giving women the suffrage.

A Dubuque "local editor" complains that there is only one handsome girl in that city, and she is engaged to a dozen young men.

A Boston paper says that the best way to improve the lot of a woman is to put a good house on it and a good man in the house.

A lady in California with a fortune of half a million has married a "heathen Chinee"—a poor, miserable specimen of the tribe at that.

Mrs. Laura DeForce Gordon, the woman suffrage candidate for state senator of San Joaquin county, California, is stumping the district in her own behalf.

A young fellow belonging to Boston, with a head about as big as an early rose potato, paid twenty-five dollars for one of Nilsson's hair-pins, dropped in her room.

Miss Lillian Edgerton's new lecture is entitled, "Gossip: Its Causes and Cure." Alas! Lillian may talk until she is black in the face, but gossip will never be "cured."

A Milwaukee lady, whose husband has been persecuted to death by a creditor, married the creditor and persecuted him to death in less than six months. Time sets all things even.

A young fellow was arrested in Chicago last Thursday for insulting women on the street. His defense was that the current female fashions had driven him crazy. He was told to go.

Over $00,000 in diamonds was displayed on the person of a woman in Saratoga, last week. Whom that lady comes to lie on her death-bed, would she care to have the diamonds spread over her?

Miss Ernestine L. Rose, who is now lecturing in England, is sixty years of age, and such is the charm of her delivery that she cannot speak a dozen words without being interrupted by applause.

A man who has been among 'em says that Kate Field is a good pistol shot, Miss Hazlett swims like a duck, Elizabeth Cady Stanton is a scientific angler, and it is intimated that Susan B. Anthony plays a rattling game of draw-poker.

A widow, a boarding house keeper out in Kansas, who entered a complaint against a boarder, gave her age as twenty-nine, when she is fifty if she is a day, and the enraged justice dismissed the case without inquiring any further.

A Danbury father was recently complaining of the late hours kept by his son, when a neighbor suggested what he thought would be a proper way to keep him from his haunts. "Oh," exclaimed the afflicted father, "it is not his aunts, but another woman."

The Revolution says: Ostrich plumes are highly appreciated by American women of culture and refinement, whose tastes, it must be said, tend generally to the esthetic in art and ornament; but they are not always prepared for the tricks put upon them by dealers. The feathers of the American vulture are quite as often bought for ostrich as the real, and not unfrequently two or three clever splicings will produce a plume of unusual length and apparent beauty, which is sold for three times its real value. In buying a costly feather, therefore, it is well to look out for the slightest indications of want of evenness and perfection, and to make important purchases, as a rule, of those who have a reputation to sustain, and can therefore be relied upon.

The present style of shoes is crippling the women of our days. Ladies' shoemakers say that there is hardly a young woman now who regards herself at all fashionable who has not bunions, callosities, corns and enlarged joints, and that the crop of these ornaments developed within the last four or five years is astonishing and pitiful.

A girl of only seventeen years located a farm in Kansas three years ago. The land was perfectly wild and she employed no male help, but her success has been such that on Tuesday last she was offered for her farm a sum ten times the amount she paid for it. She refused the offer, and says that in five years more she will retire to the East and live on the interest of her property.
